Description :

Prsentation de l'diteur Anne Enright, one of Ireland's most remarkable writers, has just had two babies: a girl and a boy. Making Babies, is the intimate, engaging, and very funny record of the journey from early pregnancy to age two. Written in dispatches, typed with a sleeping baby in the room, it has the rush of good news - full of the mess, the glory, and the raw shock of it all. An antidote to the high-minded, polemical 'How-to' baby manuals, Making Babies also bears a visceral and dreamlike witness to the first years of parenthood. Anne Enright wrote the truth of it as it happened, because, for these months and years, it is impossible for a woman to lie. Revue de presse "1000 kilometres away from baby whisperer books, and one every petrified parent-to-be should read." (Sinead Gleeson Image) "Fizzingly entertaining. Reading it is like having a conversation with your funniest friend. Enright has pulled off that rarest of tricks: writing brilliantly about happiness" (Sunday Times)"Making Babies is an absolute joy, the perfect, intelligent antidote to poisonous books on the subject" (India Knight)"An unadulterated delight...suffused with a sense of love and very, very funny" (Maggie O'Farrell Daily Telegraph)"Gasp-making, jaw-dropping and eloquently astounding" (Irish Independent)Prsentation de l'diteurAnne Enright, one of Ireland's most remarkable writers, has just had two babies: a girl and a boy.
